

About Alykhan

Alykhan is a Canadian undergraduate Business student focusing on the intersection of science, technology and entrepreneurship.

He can be found on Twitter at @Alykhan_ where his followers link to him for the latest news in business, technology and the future of mental health.

Focused on eliminating the global mental health crisis, he is both involved with a range of mental health initiatives and currently promoting alternative solutions, such as psychedelics and neurotechnology.

Born and raised in Vancouver, Canada, Alykhan is an active advocate for social change promoting health and peace through his mental health advocacy. Prior, Alykhan promoted religious pluralism and social-economic development with the world's largest private development network. In 2016, he created MuslimGuy.com, an online magazine and blog in which he was Founding Editor-in-Chief. The project has been on hiatus since January 2018.

Through his insatiable drive to stop the cycles of violence in this world, and to reach peace, he is devoted to a life of service.

Alykhan is available for speaking engagements, special events and summits, global impact consultancy, press and media interviews. To connect with him, please contact: alykhan@alykhan.ca.
